TWO AMERICAN SENATORS RENEW DEMAND FOR INFLATION

SHIPPING SENSATION IN BRITAIN

South African Subsidy For Italian Lines.

VIGOROUS SPEECH BY SIR ROBERT HORNE

London, To-day.

The first confirmation of the report which has astounded British shipping circles, that the South African Government has agreed to subsidise Italian lines to the extent of £150,000 yearly, to carry Cape produce to Mediterranean ports, was afforded in a speech made by General Jan Smuts at Johannesburg, yesterday.

General Smuts said that the Government of South Africa were fully committed before the Coalition was formed and asked, "was it worth while breaking up the Coalition for a shipping subsidy?"

Sir Robert Horne, in a speech at Glasgow, yesterday, declared that Britain would never forgo shipping supremacy and the remedy of subsidies would be applied if only as a last resort.

South Africa once had the Italian Army meat contract valued at about £150,000, Reuter.

BRITISH STOCKS BUOYANT.

Irregular Trading, But A Good Tone.

London, To-day. Stock markets, generally, left off with a good tone yesterday, although in several instances, values closed under best.

British funds were firm, with War Loan, 3 1/2 per cent. at 100 9/16. German bonds, mostly, lost one point.

Kaffirs registered improvements on the day, but in some cases best points were not maintained.

Internationals were generally good on higher opening advices from Wall Street.

ANOTHER TYPHOON FORMS.

Fair Weather Forecast.

The typhoon which formed about 1,000 miles from the Colony, yesterday, and which, according to the Manila Observatory, was headed this way, is now situated between the Loochoos and the Bonins. The typhoon which threatened the Colony on Monday, is reported to be filling up to the south of Hainan.

The total rainfall in Hong Kong for the 24 hours ending 10 a.m. to-day was 0.27 inch, bringing the total since January 1 to 47.28 inches, against an average of 71.03 inches. Fair weather generally, with moderate east winds, and local showers, is forecasted by the Royal Observatory in the weather report issued this morning.

To-day being the birthday of the late Sir Robert Horne, the Italian Consul, Mr. Umberto di Tanno, the Italian Consul General in Hong Kong, has been here to-day for his birthday.

TO RAISE COMMODITY PRICES

THREAT OF CONGRESS COMPULSION

R.F.C. OFFERS $1,000,000,000 FOR LOANS TO INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, TO-DAY.

SENATOR W. FLETCHER OF FLORIDA AND SENATOR PAT HARRISON OF MISSISSIPPI HAVE RENEWED THEIR DEMAND THAT THE UNITED STATES ADMINISTRATION TAKE IMMEDIATE ACTION TO RAISE COMMODITY PRICES, DECLARING THAT OTHERWISE CONGRESS WILL BE COMPELLED TO ENACT MANDATORY INFLATION.

The White House, however, remains silent concerning inflation. The National Recovery Administration, General Hugh Johnson, yesterday announced that there is every indication of another 1,000,000 men being re-employed in October. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

In order to encourage American financial houses to lend more freely to business and industry and thus promote President Roosevelt's Recovery Programme, Mr. Jesse Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, yesterday announced that the Corporation, which has about U. S. $1,000,000,000 available, will make loans at three per cent. for any part of six months, to banks, and Trust and Mortgage Companies.

THE LATTER CONCERNS CAN THEN RE-LEND MONEY TO INDUSTRY AT A REDUCED BASIC RATE OF FOUR PER CENT.

BLOODSHED MARKS STRIKE BY COAL MINERS

6 Shot; 20 Clubbed During Rioting.

ROOSEVELT ORDERS SIGNING OF CODE

Union Town, Pennsylvania.

To-day.

Bloodshed marked the official beginning of the coal strike yesterday, six men being shot and 20 clubbed in rioting in three mines in the coal area in Fayette County. The police are reported to have opened fire after trouble with the pickets.

The Governor of Pennsylvania has hurriedly and secretly drafted orders for the mobilisation of the National Guard, and steps are being taken to place the area virtually under Martial Law.

President Roosevelt has sent Federal agents to investigate the shooting and the outbreak.

The President's patience regarding the delay in signing the Coal Code has finally broken down as the result of the outrage. He has summoned General Hugh Johnson, Administrator of the Recovery Drive, to the White House and has ordered the immediate conclusion of the negotiations, declaring the time has come for "definite action." — Reuter.

AMERICAN COTTON FIGURES.

AUGUST CONSUMPTION AND EXPORTS UP ON 1932

Washington, To-day.

The domestic cotton consumption in the United States for August amounted to 588,570 bales as compared with 504,497 bales for the corresponding month of last year, according to a Washington report.

Cotton exports for last month were 550,537 bales as compared with 454,154 bales in August last year. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

INFLATION PLAN DETAILED.

Drastic Proposal.

PURCHASE OF SILVER AND HUGE NOTE ISSUE.

Washington, To-day.

Details of the inflation proposal made by Senator Fletcher and Senator Harrison, include, firstly, the issue of some or all of the U.S. $3,000,000,000 Treasury notes authorised by Congress.

Secondly, an increase in domestic prices of newly-mined gold.

Thirdly, the purchase of silver, and an issue of Treasury notes against the said purchases.

Fourthly, the creation of a stabilisation fund to keep the dollar low, regardless of any foreign co-operation.

Senator Harrison has predicted that the Federal Reserve will increase the open market purchasing of Federal bonds as a credit inflation measure. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

DOLLAR MAY BE DEVALUED.

Harrison's Hint.

Washington, To-day.

A strong hint that the dollar may be devalued, in order to raise commodity prices when Congress re-assembles in January, was given by Mr. Harrison, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, yesterday.

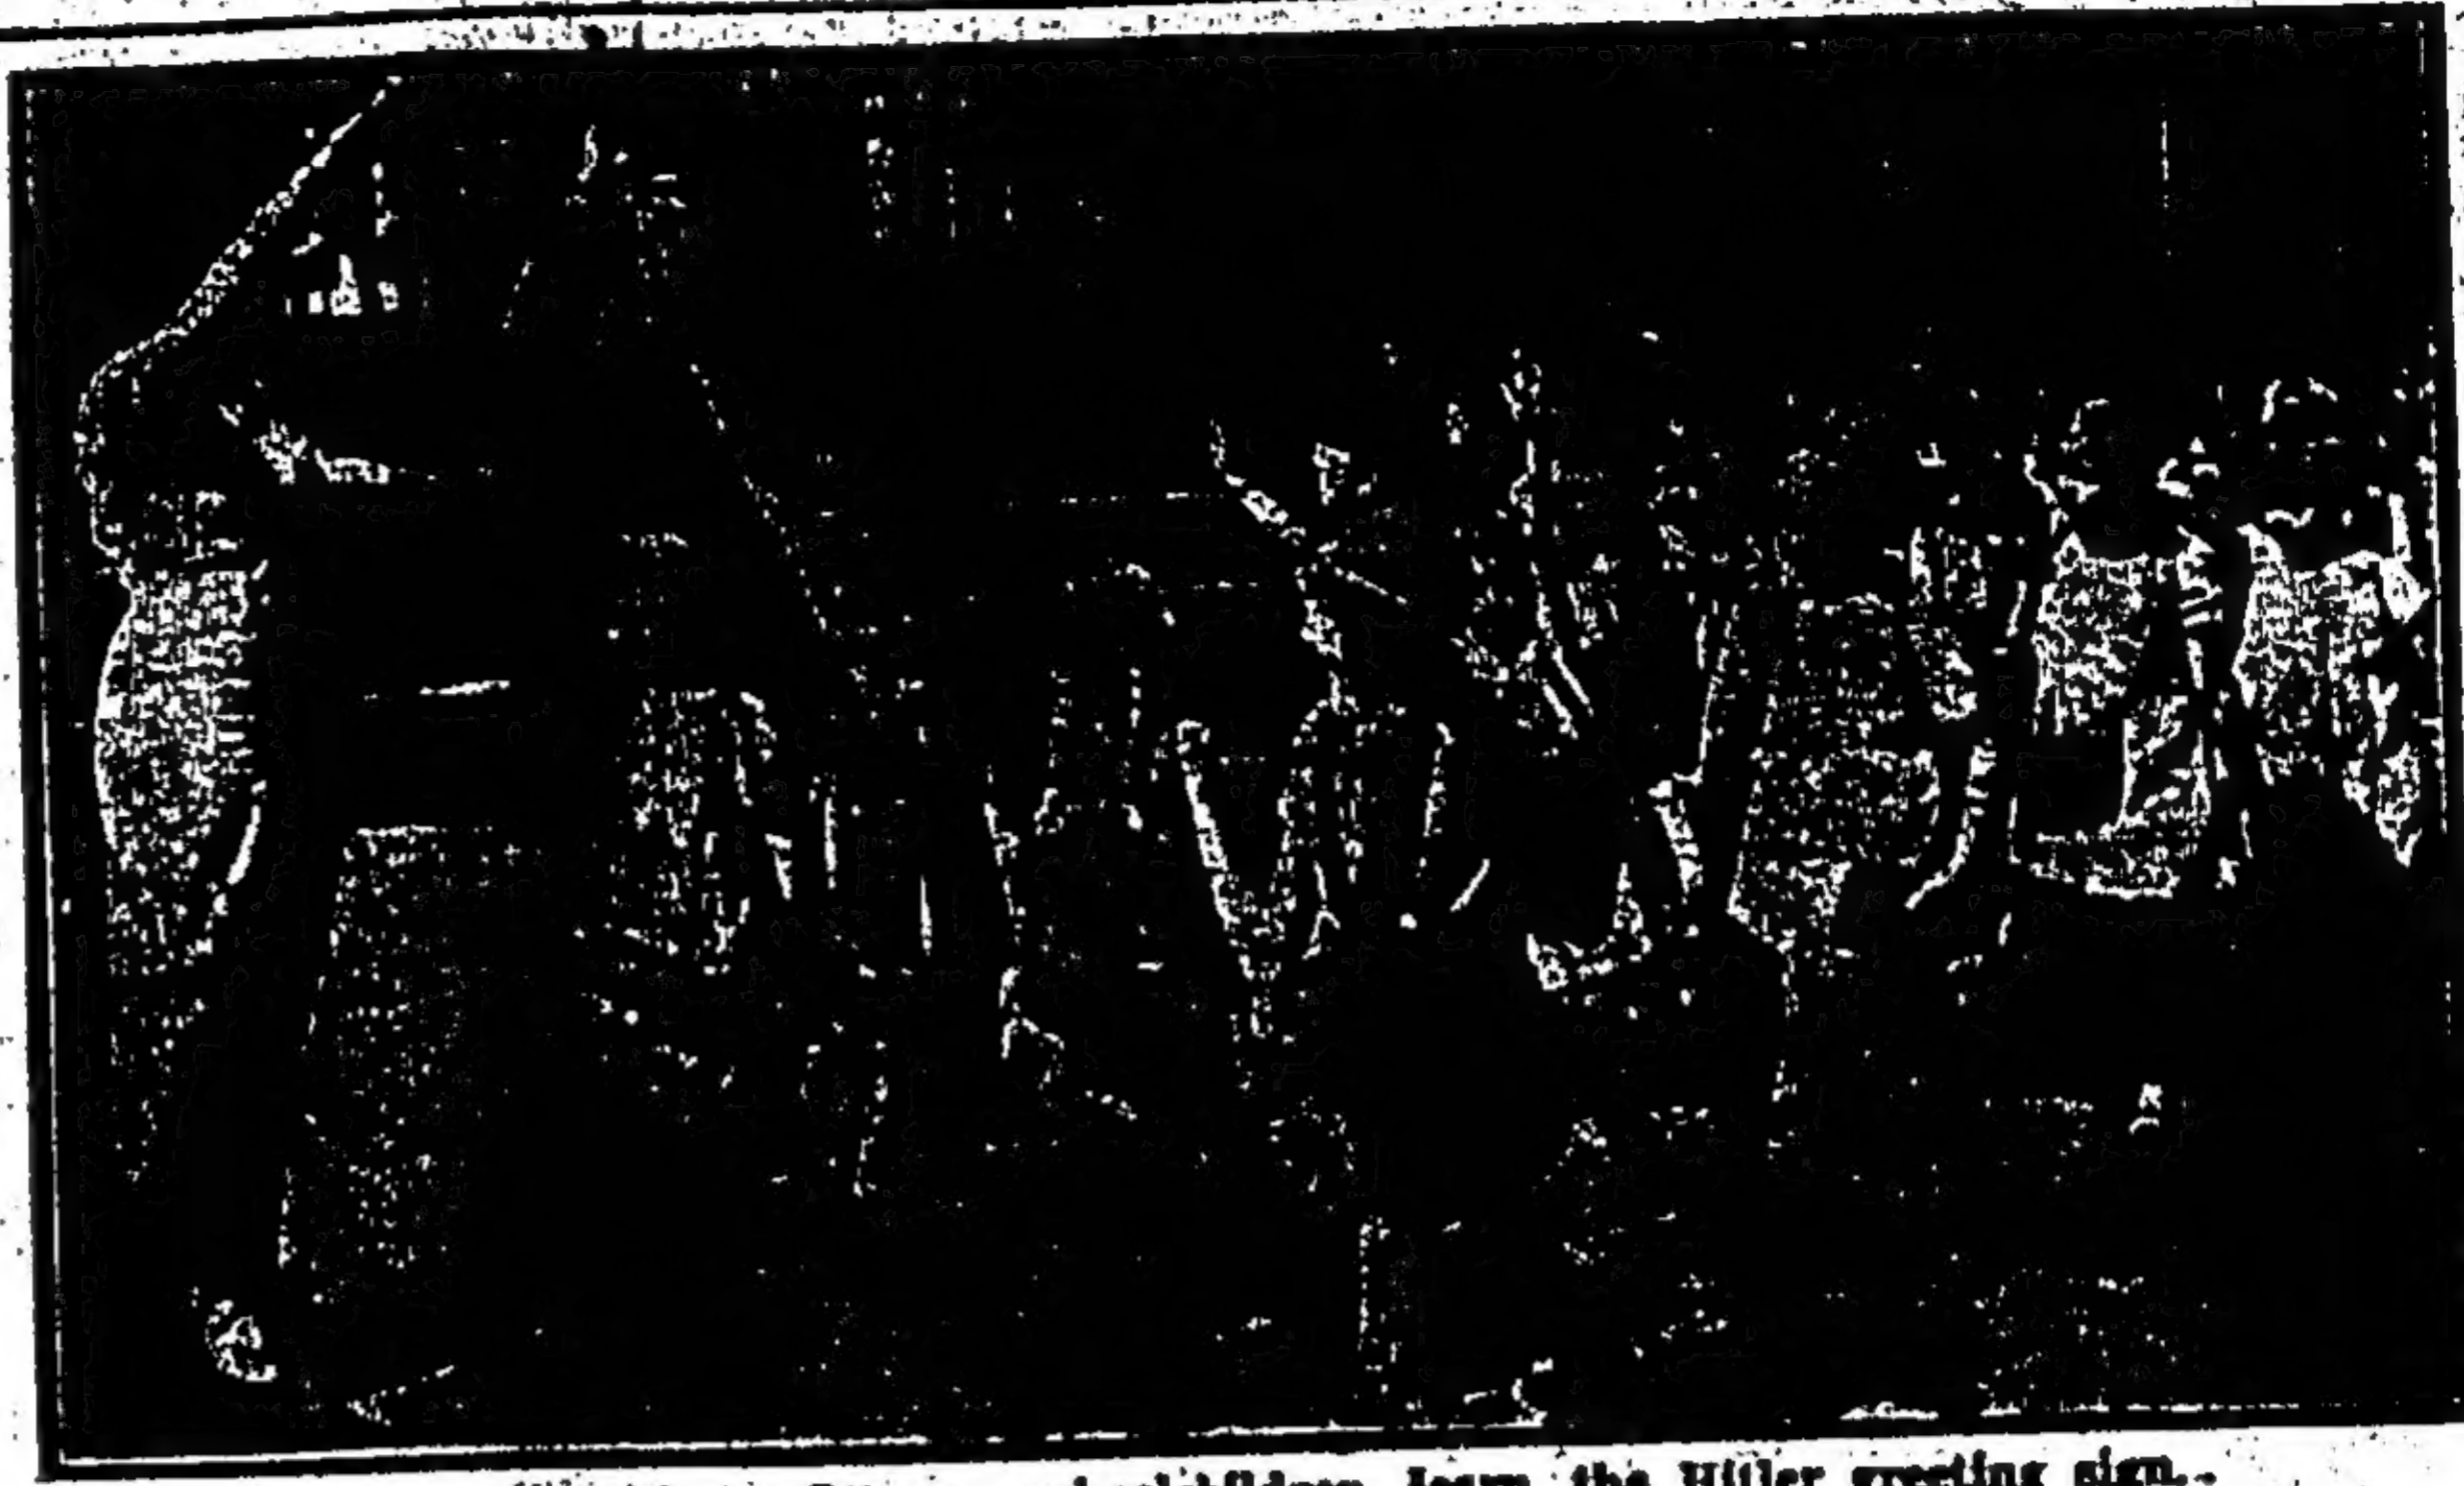

Mr. Harrison predicted that President Roosevelt will take some action to raise prices "pretty quick" — whether you call it inflation or not.

Mr. Harrison added that if the President did not take action, Congress would force him to "do something." — Reuter.

U.S. Gold Shipments To England.

Washington, To-day.

The shipments of new gold from the United States to England for the past week totalled 1,000,000 ounces, according to a Washington report. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

AN EMPIRE BOYCOTT OF JAPAN?

M.P. Hits Out At Trade Menace.

PARLIAMENTARY REVOLT ON ISSUE

London, To-day.

The Government has been denounced as "doing nothing in the face of the increasing menace of Japanese competition," in a speech in London by Mr. J. R. Remer, Conservative member for the Macclesfield division, Cheshire.

Mr. Remer urged even complete Empire prohibition for Japanese cotton and silk goods, and described the present discussions at Simla, India, with Japan as a farce.

The "Daily Express," in a leaderette, predicts a very big Parliamentary revolt, unless "Japanese business is put in order." — Reuter.

Japan Guilty In Manchukuo.

LORD LYTTON DENIES ANY "FAIT ACCOMPLI"

London, To-day.

In a letter to "The Times" on Manchukuo, Lord Lytton challenges a writer's acceptance of Manchukuo as a fait accompli, and also his statement that the rights or wrongs of Japan's actions two years ago are no longer relevant to the present or future of the Far East. Lord Lytton states that the unanimous vote of the League of Nations declared that Japan was wrong, and the statement by the writer in question propounds a doctrine, which if accepted by responsible persons, would destroy the foundations of peace for the post-war world. — Reuter.

WALL ST. EXODUS THREATENED.

Stock Exchange Heads Protest Against Tax.

New York, To-day.

It is learned that the Government of the New York Stock Exchange are planning to move the Exchange to some other place than New York, if the proposed tax on stock transactions is passed. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

U.S. $75,000 FOR ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS

Stockbroker's Wife Wins Claim Against Film Star

Los Angeles, To-day.

A sum of U.S. $75,000 has been awarded Mrs. Marian Reed, who sued the film star, Miss Clair Windsor, for alienation of the affections of her husband, Mr. Alfred Reed, a stockbroker. The plaintiff claimed U.S. $100,000. — Reuter.

LONDON'S FINE EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES

250,000 To Resume Evening Classes.

GRANDFATHER STUDENT

London, To-day.

About 250,000 Londoners, mostly but not all of them young, will next week resume their studies during the extreme comprehensive system existing in the Metropolitan area for providing continued education.

The winter programme, mainly organised by the London County Council, offers a choice of no less than 20,000 classes on almost every conceivable subject. Most of them deal with languages, branches of science and art, handicrafts, professions or trades, but the syllabus is sufficiently broad to include such subjects as lip-reading for the deaf and a cure for stammering.

The importance of these classes is indicated by the fact that during the current year 65,000 boys and girls are leaving London County Council Schools, and the evening classes are to enable them, at trivial cost to specialise in subjects helpful to them.

There is no age limit to the classes, and in one instance a grandfather, aged 70, years, is studying in company with his son and grandson. — British Wireless Service.

LOCAL DOLLAR RISES.

Further Advance In Silver

The dollar rose to 1/4 3-4, and silver to 1/4 3-4, on the New York market, on Friday, September 15, 1933. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

ARMED

AUSTRIAN PLANES

Flying Over German Border.

NAZIS WANT FRONTIER DEFENCES

Munich, To-day.

The German authorities are considering diplomatic action regarding the alleged territorial infringement by armed Austrian planes flying over the frontier during the past few days.

Herr Esser, Chief of the State Chancellery, has requested the Foreign Office to protest to the Austrian Government and to demand the disarmament of Austrian police planes.

Herr Esser also urges the need for measures to adequately protect the frontier of East Bavaria. — Reuter.

MORE MARRIAGES IN ENGLAND

But Fewer Births In June Quarter.

DEATH RATE FALLS

London, To-day.

A decline in births, fewer deaths and a very big increase in marriages, are recorded in the quarterly return of the Registrar-General, issued yesterday, as having been registered in England and Wales during the three months ended June 30.

Live births numbered 154,165, which were 11,238 fewer than in the corresponding quarter of 1932. Of these births, 79,033 were boys and 75,132 girls.

Deaths numbered 108,606, and were 61,593 fewer than in the preceding quarter, and 7,619 fewer than in the corresponding quarter of 1932. The death rate was 10.8 per 1,000 of population of 23,000,000, below that recorded during the second quarter of 1932.

The natural increase of population by excess of births over deaths was 45,559, which is less than usual. Of these marriages numbered 170,000, an increase of 11,000 on the corresponding quarter of 1932, and the corresponding quarter of 1932. — British Wireless Service.

CRAWFORD DEFEATED IN FRIENDLY GAME

Shields Wins In International.

AUSTRALIA AND AMERICA ALL SQUARE

Illinois, To-day.

The defeat of Jack Crawford, holder of three of the four major tennis titles in the world, by Frank X. Shields, former American Davis Cup player, provided the feature of the friendly international match between America and Australia at Lake Forest yesterday.

All the Australian Davis Cup team were in action and Vivian McGrath, 18-year-old two-handed backhand player, and Don Turnbull, the doubles player, were the other Australians to lose, the match resulting in a tie of 3 matches all.

The scores as cabled by Reuter were:—

Frank X. Shields (U.S.A.) beat Jack Crawford (Australia) 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Adrian Quist (Australia) beat Keith Gledhill (U.S.A.) 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Frank Parker (U.S.A.) beat Vivian McGrath (Australia) 6-4, 6-2.

Wilmar Allison (U.S.A.) beat Don Turnbull (Australia) 6-3, 6-3.

Crawford and McGrath (Australia) beat Shields and Parker (U.S.A.) 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Quist and Don Turnbull (Australia) beat George Lott and Lester Stoeffen (U.S.A.) 1-6, 11-9, 6-3.

The defeat of Lott and Stoeffen, the American National doubles champions, caused a mild sensation in view of the failure of Quist and Turnbull in the Fourth Round at Brookline.

Quist repeated his triumph over Gledhill at Forest Hills, and Crawford and McGrath, who did not enter the American doubles tourney, beat Shields and Parker, who reached the Final.

Lester Stoeffen, who was beaten by Crawford in the Semi-Final at Forest Hills, has signified his intention of retiring from international tennis to join a stock exchange. (Continued on page 12.)

GOLF CHAMPIONS DEFEATED

Sommerville Loses U.S. Amateur Title.

CANADIAN HOLDER OUT IN QUARTER-FINALS

Cincinnati, To-day.

Another sensation was provided in the American Amateur Golf Championship when C. Ross Sommerville, the holder, was beaten 2 and 1 by W. L. Little, of San Francisco, over 18 holes in the quarter final at the Kenwood Country Club yesterday.

Sommerville, who is from Ontario, Canada, won the title last year when he defeated the challenge of George Dunlop in the Final Round.

On Wednesday Frank Goldman, the American Open champion, was frustrated in his attempt to equal Bobby Jones' record when he lost to Chandler Egan, holder in 1904 and 1905, beat him by 3 and 2.

Sumner quality round Johnny Packer established a new all-time qualifying record with an aggregate of 141. — Reuter.

Autumn Line In Millinery

New Beret Caps Are Less Severe.

The earliest indications of the autumn line in millinery are given in the new caps of beret type.
These are much less severe than those of last season, which were simple and almost boyish, and barely covered the hair.

While preserving closely the line of the head the new caps show twists, knots, and small brims which give a much more trimmed effect. Most of them are built up high at the back and pulled down to a visor-like point over the right eye, much lower than anything which has been seen before.

Travel Tips.

CHOOSE a liquid, or semi-liquid, foundation for your powder. It will hold better.

AN indelible lipstick and inde-libile mascara are less likely to stray during a long journey.

LIGHTLY powder your lips before applying lipstick. It will then "stay put" for a long time.

ROUGE should be applied while the face is still moist from washing and foundation cream put on top of it.

POPULAR COLOURS FOR NEXT SEASON

Indian laque red is in the ascendant, with Bordeaux and all shades of pink likely to become next season's favourite colourings.
There is no explanation to offer
why certain shades, popular one season, are discarded and distasteful the next.

Fashion Surprises For Autumn

"Contrast" Velvet In Varied Greens.

FUR IN NEW USES

The evening silhouette launched by Jean Patou is graceful, showing smooth, draped effects that mould
the form without girting it. No reference is made to past epochs.
Fullness is drawn to the back, and the front outline the figure without unduly clinging to it.

Cascade loops may suggest bustle loops beneath very low back De-colletes, some of which are daring in conception, with high front lines to ameliorate them. Some of these necklines are ornamented with giant bow ties just under the chin.
These are in dark, taffeta or faille ribbon broche, with tartan patterned velvet.

Marten, black, blue and silver fox are cleverly manipulated for evening wraps. The felt is placed across the back hem-lines of short jackets, making the garment stand slightly away from the figure. This also applies to daywear jackets,
one of which in navy shows silver fox taking the line over a yellow wool lace blouse that completes the ensemble.

The new colour, "wild blackberry," replaces black, though this is also used throughout the collection.
There are dark and bright greens, as well as an excellent tone of naturalism in "contrast" velvet. This new velvet, which shows two shades in the width, is used for a beautiful gown in bright apple green.

Velvet evening gloves are an important note. One decorated cuff forms a little velvet muff extending from one gauntlet only or a muff wrist line banded up and out with shaded red and pink camellias.

Fur is used in an entirely new manner by Augustabernard to trim overcoats. Long, loose panels come from a collar-line of black astrakhan to cross over and drop to the hem-line of a black coat.

The new greens, browns and greys in tweeds and laines are used for morning suits executed on tailored lines. Jackets may be gripped to the figure by broad box-calf belts that sometimes show undulating borders, or they may be semi-fitted and collarless.

A bright green coat-frock, is an other triumph in morning styles, and has a bodice fastening of brown buttons to match a brown box-calf belt. An extra detail that adds charm to this coat-frock model is a natural-coloured jersey scarf-tie extending from the neck-line.

Menu Suggestions For To-morrow

Veal Curry Salad
Rhubarb Cream
Cheese Puffer

1 Breakfast cup of white breadcrumbs, 2 eggs, 1 breakfast cup grated cheese, ½ pint milk. Soak the breadcrumbs in the milk, and add the cheese and well-beaten eggs. Pour into a well-buttered piedish, and bake in a quick oven 30 to 40 minutes.

Green Pea and Potato Stew

1 Pint shelled green peas, 6 new potatoes, 2 onions, a sprig of mint, 1½ pints water, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ ounce butter rolled in flour. Slice the potatoes and onions, and place them in a stewpan with the peas, mint and water.
Simmer gently for one hour, remove the mint, add salt and butter, and stir for a few minutes on cooker.

Orange Sponge

The juice of 4 oranges and one lemon, ½ ounce of agar agar, 1½ ounce of sugar, ½ pint of water,
the white of 1 egg, the ring of 2 oranges, yellow colouring. Chop the agar agar finely, put it in the water, boil for a few minutes till dissolved. Add the sugar, thinlypared orange-rind, and the lemon and orange juice, skim, and set on one side to cool slightly. Whisk the white of egg until it is slightly frothy. Add it to the agar agar, etc., strain into a basin, and whisk until it is very frothy and thick. Add yellow colouring. Heat it up in a glass dish. A little cream is a great improvement.

Broiled Chicken with Asparagus

Clean and draw a young chicken.
Wipe and brush over with olive oil,
sprinkled with lemon juice and strew over sliced onion and bits of parsley.
Cover, let stand 2 hours. Remove onion and parsley and broil in a well-greased broiler very slowly 25 minutes, or until the breast meat is tender. Turn the chicken often.
The skin will brown very quickly, so do not let it overcook. Remove to hot serving dish, spread with soft butter, and sprinkle with salt and peppercorn. Serve with Asparagus tips and dress with butter sauce.

Veal Curry Salad

2½ Cups diced, cooked veal, ½ cup French dressing, 1 small chopped onion blanched, ½ cup freshly grated coconut, lettuce, ½ tablespoon minced ginger, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup chutney, 1 cup steamed rice, 1 teaspoon curry powder. Mayonnaise. Combine the meat, onion, coconut, rice, lemon juice, preserved ginger and French dressing. Stir in the curry mixed with a little of the mayonnaise, and add the chutney. Chill, stir in mayonnaise to blend and serve on lettuce with a garnish of extra chutney.

BRIDGE NOTES

Absurdities In New Bridge Laws

It May Pay To Go Down Eight Tricks.

By FRANK ENGLAND

A closer examination of the new International Code of Laws confirms me in my first feelings of disappointment. There would seem to be much that called for redress which has not been tackled, much that is superfluous added, and many of the new provisions are complicated and badly drafted.

However, having regard to the conflicting interests of the three nations concerned, and the necessity for concessions by and to each
it is hardly surprising that the result is somewhat of a patchwork character.

The two main purposes which the legislators should have had in view in compiling the new code are, firstly, the simplification of the scoring, and, secondly, the shortening, if possible, of the time taken by the average Contract rubber.

I can see little or nothing in the new code in furtherance of the latter object, and very little in respect of the former, although in some respects it is true the scoring has been simplified.

Non-Vulnerable Problems

There are many ways, however, in which the scoring could have been made less complicated and improved. The non-vulnerable penalties have not been sufficiently increased; in fact, hardly at all, and there still exists the anomaly that the non-vulnerable side have an enormous advantage over the vulnerable side in the bidding.

The non-vulnerable side can still afford to go down 5 or 6 tricks, or even more, on an impossible bid, and be justified in the matter of figures.

Take this case. Suppose the vulnerable side have bid Seven Hearts, a non-vulnerable opponent holding Q J 10 x x x Spades can afford to bid Grand Slam in Spades, an absurd bid on the hand, and go down 8 tricks—2200. He will save 1000 points if the opponents Grand Slam is assured, for they will make 2250 plus 210 plus 600, the value of rubber game—3060 points.

The fact is that it is so difficult to adjust the vulnerable and non-vulnerable penalties on any basis of equity that the vulnerable feature should be abolished altogether, and the game, of Contract would be no less attractive.
There is no adequate reason for giving a side 700 for a two-game rubber, while at the same time penalising the side that wins a game by subjecting it to increased penalties that more than outweigh the additional rubber bonus. It is merely giving with one hand and taking away with the other, and it makes the game lopsided and the bidding unbalanced.

The Overtricks Bonus

Sooner or later I believe we shall see the vulnerable feature eliminated and a flat 600 given for the rubber points. The French, in their game of Plafond, fail to recognise vulnerability, and I feel sure that time will show they have hit on the most balanced and attractive form of Contract. Moreover, many players have been put off Contract by the vulnerable feature, which they often fail to understand, and the heavy vulnerable penalties.

Another advantage would be that the so-called Psychic bids would find little place in the bidding. Again, on the plea of simplification, I would give the same bonuses for grand slam and small slam, whether the declarer be vulnerable or not vulnerable. These contracts are not necessarily easier to make non-vulnerable, in fact often more difficult.

One innovation in the scoring is good, and that is the abolishing of the bonus of 50 points for overtricks made and the substitution of the trick value of the suit declared. Previously, if One Spade were bid and three made, 30 were scored below the line and 100 above the line; now only 60 will be scored above.

The increase in the grand slam penalty is perhaps justified, certainly on figures, but again the inadequacy of the non-vulnerable penalties will tend to reduce the value of the additional bonus, as in the example I have previously given.

The present grand slam bonus is now exactly three times as much as the small slam, where previously it was only twice as much. This should give the more precise grand slam bidder a great advantage and will undoubtedly make a very considerable difference in the results of most duplicate matches.

TO-DAY'S BRIDGE TIP

NORTH:

S—5, 4, 3.

EAST:

S—Q, 6, 2.

South is playing No-trumps.
West's opening lead is 5, the King of Clubs. Which card should East play?

ANSWER

The Queen. West is leading from four or more Clubs headed by A K J or six or seven to the A K. In either case he will be more likely to continue the suit if he knows the position of the Queen. If a small one is played on the first round and West continues with Ace, the Queen will have to be played in order to unblock. It is better, therefore, to play it the first round.

Then there is the question of four honours in one hand, which has been left undisturbed, and which I have many times advocated in these columns should be abolished as putting a premium on luck and being at the same time an insult and a source of irritation to the skilled opponent.

So much for the new scoring,
which still leaves much to be desired.

Asking for Trouble

As to the alteration in the laws themselves, the new revoke penalty is perhaps the most sweeping, and in principle, good, although it may well lead to increased revoking. A revoke now merely allows the opponents to take two tricks from the offending side for a first revoke
and one for the second, subject, however, to the important proviso that no transfer was included in trick (1) before the first revoke occurred or any trick transferred from the other side.

This does away with the penalty
in the many cases where nothing has tended to prejudice the opponents and the revoke occurred after contract or game is made. A further concession is made that no revoke can be established in the twelfth trick, which is intended to allow revokes carelessly made late in the hand to escape.

The new revoke penalty reads simply, but when it comes to calculating the number of tricks to be taken in particular circumstances, particularly when both sides have revoked, it becomes very complicated.

I predict that for some time
there will be confusion in carrying out this law, and there will be a natural tendency to be less careful in play now that the penalty is relaxed.

Nazi Decree In Sacred
Town Of Kevlaer.

Cologne.
The Nazis at Kevlaer, the well-known Rhineland pilgrimage town, have launched a campaign to prevent women smoking in public there.

Thousands of Catholic pilgrims visit Kevlaer each year, to pray before the picture of Our Lady of Kevlaer preserved in the Church.

Many of the inhabitants consider that the habit of women smoking in public does not attune with the holy character of the town.
The Nazis have asked the proprietors of restaurants and places of entertainment to prohibit women from smoking in their establishments.—Reuter.

where cards are stated as not liable

ces unless the other opponent sees them.

Again, in the definition of "exposed card," any card dropped elsewhere than on the table when the offender's partner sees its face, is deemed exposed, but not when it is seen only by an opponent. It is going to be a matter of extreme difficulty and doubt to prove that the offender's partner ever saw its face, and, in fact,
most partners will take care to avert their eyes.

that she prefers linoleum, legs

TALKIE TALKS

by
Diane"SOLDIERS OF THE KING" STARS
CICELY COURTNEIDGEMYSTERY, DRAMA AND LAUGHS IN
"PENGUIN POOL MURDER.""King Of The Jungle"—A Smash-Hit Animal Film.

"King Of The Jungle" is the same pleasantly amazing tale as "Tarzan," but this time bringing a savage man into civilization. Buster Crabbe is exploited as a "Lion Man" and gives entire satisfaction. Like Johnny Weissmuller, he is a famous swimmer with a magnificent physique. The story tells us that he loses his parents, who are killed in a lion hunt, and the child is brought up by friendly beasts whom he in turn protects from hunters. Eventually, trapped and brought to the States by a circus-man as a sideshow, he manages to escape, and, naturally, finds refuge in the home of a pretty girl, Frances Dee. She takes on the responsibility of teaching him the customs of civilization and the English language.

I know the local audiences will be thrilled, as they were with "Tarzan," but I am too much of an animal lover to gain satisfaction from seeing poor frightened beasts tearing through a fire. I always feel that the merciless whip of the trainer is just around the corner; perhaps this comes of seeing stage and screen work of animals at close hand.

Still, this Paramount picture has decided entertainment value, and I do not doubt will fill the Queen's for days. A picture which holds the attention of all nationalities spells BOX OFFICE.

Nydia Westman is a new name to me, but she supplies the comedy relief satisfactorily, and Frances Dee cannot be anything but charming. (Queen's).

"The Great Jasper." "The Great Jasper" is chiefly noteworthy for the grand performance given by Richard Dix, probably his best since "Cimarron." The tale bears a slight resemblance to the other famous play, inasmuch as it goes down through the years.

Florence Eldridge, as the whining nagging wife, does well, and Wera Engels is fairly pleasing as the other woman.

We do not have half enough of my favourite comedienne Edna May Oliver.

The children are good, but it is really Dix who should be the attraction; he has an unusual role in the wild Irishman who loves many women. Advised. (Central).

"Prosperity" and "Plander." If you have seen Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Prosperity" see it again; they are the head of a capable cast and the story is interesting. This is followed by the best comedy-drama of the famous pair Lynn and Walls, in "Plander." Don't miss this forthcoming programme at the Star, Kowloon.

"The Man From Toronto." "The Man From Toronto" is a thoroughly English comedy drama. We had the play here years ago by an excellent company sent out by Courtneidge, father of the famous Cicely. The sort of story in which you know exactly how it will end. Ian Hunter is rather wooden as the Man from out West, (George Zucco played it here, and afterwards made a big success as the original School-master in "Jourey's End.")

Jessie Matthews is, as always, putting, pretty and coquettish. The best performance is given by the late Fredrick Kerr as the gruff, kindly old solicitor.

Margaret Yarde, Kenneth Kove and Sybil Grove are adequate in smaller roles.

The success of the film relies on simple, unsophisticated charm; plus the very delightful scenery in an English country village. I sum it up as pleasant entertainment. (King's).

"Soldiers Of The King." Cicely Courtneidge is at the top of her form in this bright British musical comedy "Soldiers of the King." It is clever, tuneful and amusing. The star overshadowed the rest of the cast, with the exception of that grand American trouper, Edward Everett Horton, who has been doing some matinees between Hollywood and Elstree. The central idea is that of a Royal Family of the Music Hall, of which Jenny Marvella is the Queen, who rules the troupe with an iron hand.

Miss Courtneidge is at her best in the comedy vein, but surprises also in the sentimental parts, and her singing of "Soldiers of the King" from the stage box at the finals gives a rousing feeling of enjoyment.

Dorothy Hyson is decidedly pretty. With that famous mother of hers, Dorothy Dickson, she could not fail to be an acquisition to stage or screen.

Edward Everett Horton as the Manager, and the rest of cast, comprising well known names like Anthony Bushell, are up to scratch. Don't miss this one at the King's.

"Penguin Pool Murder." "Penguin Pool Murder" is suspense with a smile. It is a highly ingenious mystery story which is rendered doubly entertaining by an exceedingly amusing and clever characterization of the school-mistress who turns detective, in the hands of a great artist, Edna May Oliver. You will be highly amused by the bickering and cross-talk between her and the detective, played perfectly by James Gleason.

Mae Clark, Robert Armstrong, Donald Cook, and Edgar Kennedy give the finest support, but the interesting story, masterly direction by George Archaimbaud, and the novel background of the aquarium will make you think this one of the best films we have had for some time. Don't fail to see it at the Central.

"Infernal Machine." "Infernal Machine" is a far-fetched story of an astonishing Atlantic voyage, partly thriller, partly sex comedy, principals being Genevieve Tobin, Chester Morris and Victor Jory. (Liked in "State Fair").

They admittedly do their best with the unbelievable story. Coming to the King's.

"King Kong." I predict that "King Kong" will be one of the greatest hits we have ever had. Breaking all records everywhere. British press acclaims its wonders. Pages were devoted to the mechanical part of it in "The Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News."

Not only it is the acting, delighting everyone, but the work done by the men behind the scenes, so to speak, which makes this film outstanding.

Put it on your "Must See" List. Due shortly at the Central.

"Story Of Temple Drake." If you have read William Faulkner's daring story "Sanctuary" you will most certainly want to see the film version "Story of Temple Drake."

Unfortunately Mr. Will Hays saw fit to cut the story so that the principal character Temple is made out to be a Wronged Girl, and quite disposes of the theory that she had more than a streak of depravity in her mental make-up.

Miriam Hopkins does really excellent work, and Jack La Rue, in the part of the gangster, is impressive, in a heavy featured immobile way. William Gargan is a grand character actor. You will not recognize the handsome young lawyer as the man who so pleased us in "Animal Kingdom" and "Rain."

The Court room scene is reminiscent of "Free Soul," wherein the pretty young girl bares her soul, and sobe out the awful truth of her relations with the gangster.

I think the scene wherein the lawyer-fiance picks up the fainting girl and exclaims to her father, the Judge, that he is proud of her, rather spoils the show. Stephen Roberts deserves a word of praise for his direction, but it is a pity they have so whitewashed the story.

Take my advice and see this, be the cast, with the exception of that grand American trouper, Edward Everett Horton, who has been doing some

matinees between Hollywood and Elstree. The central idea is that of a Royal Family of the Music Hall, of which Jenny Marvella is the Queen, who rules the troupe with an iron hand.

"Story Of Temple Drake." If you have read William Faulkner's daring story "Sanctuary" you will most certainly want to see the film version "Story of Temple Drake."

"Monte Carlo Madness." Miss Patricia Detering-Nathan, known to the film world as Sari Maritza, is coming in one of her German-made films "Monte Carlo Madness."

Hans Albers, well-known on the Continent, is the real star.

The story is far-fetched, but the scenery is attractive, and I can say this for the film; it is unusual, and Albers is quite attractive in an uncommon sort of way. (Central).

"The Kid From Spain." Something different, great fun, beautiful girls, and... Eddie Cantor in "Kid from Spain."

Also in the cast Lyda Roberti, the Polish girl who used to sing in the Carlton Cafe, Shanghai, and who has made good in the States.

Like "King Kong," this will be a riot, or I am much mistaken. Due at King's.

"White Sister." Marian Crawford's novel "White Sister," which gave fame to Ronald Colman, is due at the Queen's.

This time in place of Lillian Gish we have the prize-winning Helen Hayes. Some people admire her immensely—a matter of taste.

I hear quite a lot of praise for Clark Gable as the Italian Officer, but, I, for one, still cannot imagine him playing a sympathetic role well.

The talkie bears all the charm and poignancy of the beautiful tragic romance. (Queen's).

Short Shots. Dorothy Jordan is now married to Merian Cooper, the man who gave us "Chang" and "King Kong".

Nils Asther, dissatisfied with parts at Metro, has asked to be released and returned to Sweden, where he will act in European films.

Basil Rathbone is receiving the highest praise for his work in Galsworthy's "Loyalties".

Gary Cooper is playing the part intended for Douglas Fairbanks Junior in Coward's "Design for Living".

Frederic March and Miriam Hopkins are in the parts played by Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt.

Gloria Stuart is opposite Eddie Cantor in "Roman Scandals," now well on its way at United Artists.

Benita Hume has been lent to Fox, to star with Menjou in "Worst Woman in Paris."

Warner Baxter has been lent to Metro to co-star with Myrna Loy in "Penthouse."

Lady Eleanor Smith will now become a film actress, and take one of the leads in her own play "Red Wagon." Little Anne Little, the well-known voice of Betty Boop in the Max Fleischer cartoons, is going into vaudeville.

Jack Dempsey, former husband of Estelle Taylor, has married another actress.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Marshall have arrived back in Hollywood.

Those who know their Paris well will be surprised to hear that the Folies Bergere, famous the world-over for its musical shows, will only give one more, with Mistinguett, in farewell, and then—a picture house.

Gloria Swanson, Lillian Gish, Ramon Novarro, Jeanette MacDonald are all back from Europe.

Corinne Griffith is trying for a come-back in the talkies by way of playing lead in a Stock Company.

Rod La Rocque is back in Hollywood with his wife, Vilma Banky.

Leslie Howard collapsed after his return from the South of France—overwork. He is now forced to rest a month before starting on his Columbia film, and a stage play in London.

"Franchot Tone" is now playing the lead with Joan Crawford in "Dancing Lady," as Gable, who has been ill, refused to give up his holiday in Canada.

Sylvia Sydney's serious operation, when her wisdom tooth was extracted, has caused delay in shooting "Way to Love" with Chevalier. Sylvia is yet too ill to start work again.

Babe Daniels, Jimmy Gleason, Edward Horton, Charlotte Greenwood, Sally Eilers, Thelma Todd have all been so successful in British pictures that the home studios are now not making any secret of the fact that they desire well-known American writers, directors and actors—not forgetting cameramen.

Scouts are being sent to Hollywood to pick up the best in all branches of film art—Constantine Bennett has Gilbert Roland as his leading man in "Without Glory."

Gary Cooper rented a lovely house in Beverly Hills, and when the owner returned, she had to sue Gary for damages; everything but a fish-bowl had been smashed.

Jack Gilbert is helping Kenneth McKenna (husband of Kay Francis) to direct "At the Top of the World."

John Crawford's next vehicle will be "The Notorious Sadie McKee," which is now running as a serial in "Liberty."

Melvyn Douglas and wife Helen Gahagan have left Shanghai for Peking. He was last seen here in Garbo's "As You Desire Me."

Clark Gable will do "How to Treat a Lady" as his next; the co-star is not yet decided.

Leslie Banks has arrived in Hollywood to act in the Australian story "Stingaree." Probably Jeanette MacDonald or Irene Dunne will sing the leading part.

Mr. G. White, of the Education Department, was fined $5 by Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning for causing an obstruction by parking his car outside the Queen's Theatre for 15 minutes at 12.05 p.m. on August 26. The defendant pleaded guilty.

James A. Wing, driver of private car No. 180 was fined $25 at the Central Police Court this morning for speeding through a controlled area at Aberdeen.

Traffic Inspector Alexander said that he followed the defendant's car at a speed of 25 m.p.h. The street was a busy thoroughfare and a controlled area.

Speeding Lorries. Yeung Wai-kwan, driver of a motor lorry was also fined $25 for speeding in Pokfulam Road.

Traffic Sergeant Winslade said that he followed the defendant's lorry from the site of the new Government Civil Hospital, travelling towards the city. He kept up a mean 30 p.m.h. all the way including around corners.

Sergeant Howell also prosecuted a lorry driver Pang Bo-hau, for speeding at 25 p.m.h. in Connaught Road West near Western Street.

A fine of $20 was imposed.

U.S. Public
Funds Growing$754,276, 188 Already Allotted.

Washington D.C. Public funds already allotted by the Public Works Administration are described as enough to give each one of the 12,000,000 unemployed in the America a week's direct employment.

Officials of the Roosevelt Administration have announced that allocations of $754,276,188 have been made for projects that would provide 13,070,788 men weeks of work, or give 250,000 men a full year's work directly.

A total expenditure of some U.S. $3,300,000,000 is authorised by Congress.—Reuter.

The Blue Shirts.

The Free State Executive Council was a long time in plucking up courage to issue a decree of outlawry upon Gen. O'Duffy's Blue Shirt organisation, the National Guard. No other course was open without flagrant self-stultification. For parades of varying size and character were widely held throughout the Free State, some furtively, as in the Dublin area, others openly. The defiance of the Government order, however, was flagrant and deliberate, and so the organisation itself was banned, and a Military Tribunal of Five immediately set up with summary powers to deal with offenders under the Act which Mr. Cosgrave's Government passed in order to punish similar offenders belonging to the I.R.A. Gen. O'Duffy's judicious and non-committal comment is that "he awaits the verdict of the people." To what extent the Government will use this two-edged weapon is doubtful. They know the danger of making political martyrs in Ireland. Baggadocio also counts for much. The Blue Shirt Chief has already said that his organisation will neither dissolve nor be driven underground. It is not illegal, he says, because a blue shirt is not a uniform and his followers neither possess arms in secret nor carry them on parade. Proclamations, however, are dogmatic, and summarily end all argument. Another shrewd stroke was aimed at the Blue Shirt movement when the Minister for Defence warned every member of the Army Reserve that "membership of any military or semi-military body not lawfully maintained by the Government is forbidden to officers and men of the Reserve, as is also membership of any secret society." A threat against pension, and privileges, carries weight. This seems to have met with immediate success, for all members of the Reserve in the National Guard have been thanked for their services by a special order and advised to obey the Minister's decree and quit. Technically the same decree should veto membership of the I.R.A. but since Mr. De Valera came into office that force has suffered no molestation. Five thousand men of the I.R.A. paraded through the streets of Dublin last April. More than that number paraded in honour of Wolfe Tone, one of the martyrs of '98, in Co. Kildare, as late as the middle of June. It was the I.R.A.'s frozen hatred of O'Duffy for his efficient service as Chief of Staff in the Free State Army during the Civil War of 1922 and his subsequent suppression of lawlessness which extorted his dismissal last February from Mr. De Valera. It shows high courage on the General's part to start a rival organisation against these desperadoes, and even higher on the part of his recruits that join it. But they are splitting, not uniting, the Opposition by Fascist utterances and vague talk of new and un-Parliamentary methods of government being required to rescue Ireland from her present plight. Mr. De Valera is manifestly afraid of being thrown back on a resort to force, and talks of the duty of all to accept "the democratic rule of the majority" in a strain very different from that which he employed for ten years as an unconstitutional Leader of Opposition. That he would now like to rid himself of his more disreputable associates of other days is certain. He would gladly draw away the youth of the I.R.A. and enlist them in constitutional volunteering. But that compact force of fanatics and desperadoes lives for the day when it hopes to set up an All-Ireland Republic and re-parcel out the land of Ireland among the true Republicans. Mr. De Valera is one with them in spirit, but as Head of a Government which daily has to compromise in order to live he cannot be as intransigent as he would. At the moment, however, he would seem to be holding all the high cards against the General, who has probably shown his hand and challenged a trial of strength too soon.

Recovery Codes.

Just over two months after the passing by Congress of his Industrial Recovery Act, President Roosevelt has registered the greatest success attained so far for the policy which that Act was designed to promote. He has put his signature to "fair competition" codes for the foundation industries on the operation of which the economic life of the United States depends. To all of them are now applied the central principles of the Rooseveltian remedy for industrial depression—the expansion of employment by the shortening of hours of work; the increase of general purchasing power by the raising of minimum wage rates; and the imposing of a limit on price-raising. In the cases of the steel and oil industries the fight between the employers' representatives and the National Industrial Recovery Administration has been prolonged. It has been waged over the terms of the code which each industry had submitted to the Administration as suited to its own needs, while carrying out the intentions of the Act. Amendment of those terms has been from time to time insisted upon by the Government, and in the end that insistence has prevailed on all material points. In the case of the oil industry it came in the playing of

The Chinese Junk

A Chinese junk had been specially made for Plymouth Navy Week. It was claimed that this is the first time such a craft had been seen in home waters, but this was not the case.

In 1848 a real Chinese junk appeared in the Thames and lay off Blackwall. Later she was moored near Waterloo Bridge and, with her native crew, became one of the attractions of "the season." This quaint and tiny vessel had crossed the Indian Ocean and sailed round the Cape of Good Hope without mishap.

Among the thousands who visited her was Charles Dickens, who wrote: "Nothing is here but China. How the flowery land ever came into this latitude and longitude is the first thing one asks . . . and whether the fierce old ocean could ever have been in earnest with this floating toy-ship or had merely played with it in lightness of spirit."

the last card with which the Act has furnished the Government—the power to impose a code in the absence of agreement. The owners were suddenly informed by Gen. Johnson that "N.I.R.A." had itself drawn up a general code for the industry, any objections to which must be notified by the following morning. The owners accepted the inevitable. That may not mean the admission of final defeat in this and in other industries threatened with imposed measures of regulation there is serious talk of applying to the United States Supreme Court for a ruling that, on this point, the Recovery Act is unconstitutional. In the not inconceivable event of such an application, succeeding the President's plans would be thrown out of gear, and in all probability the real industry, among others to which the final power of compulsion may have to be applied. But the intolerable public odium which would attend the law in this manner is perhaps a sufficient deterrent. In the case of the oil industry it came in the playing of

NATIONALISM LEADS THE WORLD
WHERE WILL IT END?COSTLY ERRORS OF ECONOMIC SELFISHNESS

(By J. B. Firth.)

Patriotism, I read the other day, is "artificial"; Nationalism "a crazy and criminal delusion."

As to the former, let me quote a line or two from Lucian: "A man is fain to be at home, though the home be but an islet. Brighter to him the smoke of home than the fire of other lands."

Is it to old Lucian or to the young modernist that the heart responds? We can safer trust the universal instinct of mankind. Nationalism is as old as Patriotism, if one regards the nation as the larger tribe. And it was never so powerful for good and evil as to-day.

It is Nationalism which has just brought the World Economic Conference to an adjournment re infecta—which may be translated at will into any one of the innumerable synonyms for failure.

"Inspiring And Tigerish Force"

The same Nationalism seems effectually to have pulped the Draft Convention of the Disarmament Conference. It created and it sustains Fascism. It has just brought to the birth not only Hitlerism, but a New Germany. It animated the Peace Treaties. It richly fed the roots of the Great War. It is the soul of world politics. It is also their Devil.

The most inspiring and tigerish force in the modern world is not to be puffed away or brushed aside. Those who would destroy it must equip themselves with dynamite. Thus the Bolsheviks are right when they say that to overthrow Nationalism one requires not Internationalism but a Red International, operating through World Revolution and creating a novel and frightful form of Caesarism—a junta of tyrants at the top, and millions of State serfs at the bottom, fast-bound to the soil or the factory, forgetful of—if they ever heard—the name of Liberty.

With all its faults and vices Nationalism is a thousand times preferable to that.

During the latter half of the nineteenth century, Caesarism, the eternal antithesis of Nationalism, was fighting almost everywhere a losing battle. The gradual dismemberment of the Turkish Empire in Europe, the unification of Italy and of Germany—these portents were resounding triumphs for Nationality and, in the main, for Liberalism.

Wilson's Self-Determination

Nationality was to save the world from the Autocrats, and therefore from tyranny, oppression, and war. Corruptio optimi pessima. Germany provided the bitterest disappointment. Instead of consolidating peace, Nationality sowed the dragon's teeth, and few fields escaped the sower.

Later, a mad world became madder when President Wilson, in one of his most ecstatic moments, flung the phrase Self-Determination into an arena already soaked with blood as a guiding principle for those who should frame the peace treaties.

Self-Determination was interpreted to mean that any collection of people which proclaims itself to be a nation has an indefeasible right to be a Sovereign State and shape its course at will. The reckless assumption, again, was that with Self-Determination for large and small nations, Democracy, and a League of Nations, the world was rededicated to moderation, reasonableness, and good sense.

World Watching Germany

Failure was foredoomed. In trouble with statements is that they ignore history in its application to the problems which confront them. The trouble with Democracy is that they are too intent on the moment and the next meal, and with the League of Nations that it is for ever pretending to be actualized, as a plain-spoken Bishop, not of our day, once told the House of Lords, by "Truth, Right, and the General Good. These are qualities invoked by those who know that there are only words, and often enough, know that words know if too."

The Irish Free State, in a country which has gone mad and blind, has been the only one to have escaped the Nationalist delusion. It has been the only one to have escaped the Nationalist delusion. It has been the only one to have escaped the Nationalist delusion.

humanity," which nervously sees them as armies in being. The world is watching the uprising of the German nation—irresistible unless it is split by its excesses. It is reaching out for wealth, power, and dominion. It is riding itself violently of all alien bodies and as far as may be of alien ideas. It is rejecting whatever it cannot assimilate or whatever refuses to be incorporated wholly into itself. It may suffer in the long run by these violence, but in the meantime the great rage blazes furiously, furor arma ministrat, and so far as tranquillity and serenity are concerned the hands of the clock are brusquely thrust back, beyond all power of Geneva to pretend that things are going well.

Modern Hunger For Wealth

President Roosevelt a few weeks ago said, in one of his pontifical utterances, that it would be monstrous to suppose that any nation thought of extending its territories at the expense of another. Disraeli, on the contrary, once said, no less confidently, that it was "natural" for a great nation conscious of its strength and its power to desire to expand. There are two directly and at bottom irreconcilable statements. Opportunity for territorial expansion has indeed much narrowed since Disraeli's day, but that the impulse to expand remains who doubts?

British Imperialism at the moment is under a cloud. The prevailing mood of the United Kingdom is that quite enough of the world is painted red. There is a growing dislike of costly mandates which bring in little return, whether in revenue or gratitude.

Subject nationalities are increasingly hard to rule, not because the yoke upon their necks is necessarily oppressive—it is often most beneficial—but because it is shaped like a yoke and they cannot freely follow their impulses to kick up a dust and go to the devil in their own way.

The great root of evil, however, in present day Nationalism is not the spirit of territorial aggression. The spirit of Irredentism carried to preposterous lengths is far more menacing. The desire for or the imperative need of economic expansion is infinitely more dangerous still. This has grown as the spirit of Jingoism has waned. In the recent case of Japan both influences were at work simultaneously, and the grave preoccupations, and embarrassments of the Great Powers supplied an opportunity too heaven-sent to be missed.

The hunger for wealth has grown voracious. The intensified power of production has led to an inter-necine struggle for markets.

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, famous comedian who at one time received $1,000 a day, left an estate which does not exceed $2,000. It is stated.

Arbuckle, who died on June 29, recently began a "comeback" in the talkies. In applying for the letters of Administration, Mrs. Arbuckle said that her husband had no personal property which exceeded $2,000 in value and no real estate.—Reuter.

SITE OFFERED CHEERO CLUB

Government House
Meeting.

LADY ASKS FOR SUPPORT

A corner site on the corner of the Arcade has been offered by the Government for the building of a new club-house for the Cheero Club, which has done so much for the benefit of the men of the Services in Hong Kong.

At a meeting at Government House yesterday, Lady Peel, wife of H. H. Governor, Sir William Peel, mentioned that a sum of at least $5,000 would be required for building.

Lady Peel stated that the Government offered a site on the corner of the Arcade, on condition they put up a building costing at least $25,000, and appealed to the whole community of Hong Kong to find money to build the needed Club for the Seamen.

Lady Peel and Henry Pollock were supported by the G.O.C. Major-General O. J. Barrett, Commander Frank E. Bishop of Victoria (Lt. Colonel Owen Hall), His Honour J. R. Wood (Chief Justice), Squadron P. C. Wood, R.A.F., the Dr. R. H. Kotewall, the Hon. Shou-son Chow and Mr. J. L. Pherson.

Others present included Lady Pollock, Mrs. O. C. Rett, Mrs. J. R. Wood, Mrs. Tin Rev. N. V. Halward, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Tratman, Mrs. Ke. Lieut. Fisher, R.N., Mr. Mu., Mr. T. E. Pearce, Lieut. Col. L. Murrow, Mr. P. E. Barker, J. B. Ross, Mrs. Douglas J. B. Bentley, Mrs. J. H. Tait, Mr. A. G. W. Tickle, M.C. G. Alabaster, Mrs. Fiddes-Wyn, Mr. A. Brearley, Mr. B. W. G. D. C. Wilson, Hon. Mr. Gordon Mackie, Mr. and Mrs. Bentley, Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, a Dr. S. W. Tao, Hon. T. N. Chau, Messrs. Li Yau-tsun, Hui Kam-tong, Lo Cheung-shui, Kwai Shui-lau, Tang Shui-kin, Foo Si-mok, Koon-sang, Sum Pak-min, Ho Leung, M. K. Lo, Pun Hui, Leung Pat-yu, Ng Wah, Li Kien-chun, Chan Lim-pak, Chau In-chee, Tam Woon-long.

Lady Peel's Speech.
Lady Peel said, "I have asked you to come to this meeting this afternoon to arrange for the building of a 'Cheero Club.' As you all know, it is very and when we had to leave the City Hall last year, we could find no suitable building in the Town and so had to close.

Government has now offered us a site on the corner near Beaconsfield Arcade, on condition that we put up a building costing at least $25,000. Government will give us a lease of five years (at $1 a year rent) and I understand that there will be no difficulty in having this lease extended when necessary. The covering authority of the Secretary of State is necessary, but it is anticipated that this will be given.

I am very anxious that the Club should be run as before by the Ladies of Hong Kong, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Bellamy, I am sorry to say, are not here this afternoon, but early this year they said they would undertake to run the Club with a Ladies Committee. It will, of course, be under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A., but will be in the hands of a Ladies Committee.

It is clear that a two-story building will be necessary, in order to ensure the required accommodation, and the cost of such a building will probably be between $30,000 and $35,000.

I now make an appeal to the whole community of Hong Kong to find the money to build this greatly needed Club for the service men who are out here away from their homes. It makes an enormous difference to these men to have a happy and cheerful place to go to where they may talk of their homes to women who understand and can sympathize with them.

$1,000 Donation.
I wish to thank Mr. Tang Shing Kin for his great sympathy and interest, and for the most generous gift he has sent me of $1,000 for the Cheero Club, and I appeal to everyone in the Colony to help to build and equip this Club.

Sir Henry Pollock's Speech.
Sir Henry Pollock stated: "As President of the Y.M.C.A., I can confidently assure you that previous discussions which have taken place at our Board

SZECHUAN WAR ENDED

Liu Wen-hui Totally Defeated.

LIU SHU-ENG MEANS TO SUPPRESS BANDITS

Hankow, To-day.
Peace has been restored in Szechuan, according to the latest message from Chungking.

The long-drawn internecine war between Liu Shu-eng and Liu Wen-hui was definitely concluded recently, following the defeat of Liu Wen-hui's army who offered a stubborn resistance along the Min Kiang River which eventually collapsed in face of a combined attack by land, water and air by Liu Shu-eng and his allied troops.

Now, with the elimination of Liu Wen-hui, Liu Shu-eng is availing himself of the opportunity of embarking on a pacification and bandit-suppression campaign in Szechuan in co-operation with his allied military leaders.

The local authorities received an official message from General Liu Shu-eng on Wednesday stating that he had held a conference that day with the military leaders of the various route armies in Szechuan and it was anticipated that a bandit-suppression campaign would be launched as soon as possible.—Central News Agency.

REHABILITATION OF HSINKIANG.

Mr. Lo Wen-kan Confers
With Officials.

DEVELOPMENT PROPOSALS.

Nanking, To-day.

According to a message from Tehu, Hsinking, Dr. Lo Wen-kan, since his arrival at Tehu, has been busily occupied in conferences with Mr. Liu Wen-lung, Civil Governor of Hsinking, and General Shueng Shih-chai, Defence Commissioner of Hsinking, regarding the rehabilitation of the province.

Plans for the construction of highways and other means of communication, promotion of education among the Mohammedan and Chinese masses, and the encouragement of agricultural colonisation in sparsely populated districts, have been closely discussed.

Dr. Lo's visit to Hsinking has greatly helped to eliminate the existing misunderstanding among the racial groups.—Central News Agency.

QUIET RESTORED IN LUENTUNG.

Rehabilitation Work
To Be Started.

Tientsin, To-day.

According to a statement made by Mr. Chien Chung-chek, member of the Luentung Retrocession Commission, who has just completed a tour of inspection of the Luentung districts, railway traffic in Luentung has resumed normal conditions and the administration of the various districts is being carried on smoothly except in a certain area east of Chinwangtao, where banditry is still rife.

With the resumption of normal conditions there the Chinese Government will be able to start rehabilitation work without further handicap.—Central News Agency.

Meetings, that our Association will be only too pleased that the Cheero Club (formerly known as the Naval and Military Y.M.C.A.) should be started once again under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A.

I am happy to be able to announce that our General Secretary, Mr. J. L. McPherson, who has had a wide experience of building plans and costs in this Colony, has very kindly promised to place his services at the disposal of any Building Committee which may be hereafter formed. I feel confident too that we can at all times rely upon the friendly co-operation of the Honourable the Director of Public Works and of the Officers of his department.

Two items of good news have been mentioned by Lady Peel in her speech.
The first is that Mrs. Bellamy and Mr. D. J. Lewis and other very efficient and willing ladies who are associated with them in the management of the Cheero Club will be returning from the States

Assassination Plots Alleged.

SUSPICIOUS ARRIVALS

Changchun, To-day.

Several "murder groups" have entered Manchuria lately, with the intention of assassination of prominent Manchukuo and Japanese officials in Changchun, Mukden and other centres, according to reports said to have been received here from private sources.

It is alleged that the conspirators are stated to be timing their plans for September 18, the second anniversary of the Japanese occupation of Mukden.

Police in the various ports are making a more detailed examination of all arrivals from China, and all persons believed to possess anti-Manchukuo affiliations are being closely watched.—Reuter.

Shanghai, To-day.

While the Japanese declare that to-day is a festival in memory of the recognition of Manchukuo by Japan last year, the Chinese people will observe September 18 as "Humiliation Day" in memory of the "Mukden Incident," which led to the annexation of Manchuria by Japan.

The Kuomintang party organs as well as popular bodies in Nanking, Shanghai, Tientsin and other cities in China will hold memorial meetings on that day.—Central News Agency.

To-day's Short Story.

A HORSEMAN
IN THE SKY

By Ambrose
Bierce.

ONE sunny afternoon in the autumn of the year 1861, a soldier lay in a clump of laurel by the side of a road in Western Virginia. He lay at full length, upon his stomach, his feet resting upon the toes, his head upon the left forearm. His extended right hand loosely grasped his rifle. But for the somewhat methodical disposition of his limbs and a slight rhythmic movement of the cartridge box at the back of his belt, he might have been thought to be dead. He was asleep at his post of duty. But if detected he would be dead shortly afterward, that being the just and legal penalty of his crime.

The clump of laurel in which the criminal lay was in the angle of the road which, after ascending, southward, a steep incline to that point, turned sharply to the west, running along the summit for perhaps one hundred yards. There it turned southward again and went zigzagging downward through the forest. At the salient of that second angle was a large flat rock, jutting out from the ridge to the northward, overlooking the deep valley from which the road ascended. The rock capped a high cliff; a stone dropped from its outer edge would have fallen sheer downward one thousand feet to the tops of the pines. The angle where the soldier lay was on another spur of the same cliff. Had he been awake he would have commanded a view, not only of the short arm of the road and the jutting rock but of the entire profile of the cliff below it. It might well have made him giddy to look.

The country was wooded everywhere except at the bottom of the valley to the northward, where there was a small natural meadow, through which flowed a stream scarcely visible from the valley's rim. This open ground looked hardly larger than an ordinary dooryard, but it was really several acres in extent. Its green was more vivid than that of the enclosing forest. Away beyond it rose a line of giant cliffs similar to those upon which we are supposed to stand in our survey of the savage scene, and through which the road had somehow made its climb to the summit. The configuration of the valley, indeed, was such that from our point of observation it seemed entirely shut in, and one could not but have wondered how the road which found a way out of it had found a way into it.

No country is so wild and difficult but men will make it a theatre of war; concealed in the forest at the bottom of that military rat-trap, in which half a hundred men in possession of the exits might have starved an army to submission, lay five regiments of Federal infantry. They had marched all the previous day and night and were resting. At nightfall they would take to the road again, climb to the place where their faithful sentry now slept, and, descending the other slope of the ridge, fall upon a camp of the enemy at about midnight. Their hope was to surprise it, for the road led to the rear of it. In case of failure their position would be perilous in the extreme; and fall they surely would should accident or vigilance apprise the enemy of the movement.

The sleeping sentinel in the clump of laurel was a young Virginian named Carter Druse. He was the son of wealthy parents, an only child, and had known such ease and cultivation and high living as wealth and taste were able to command in the mountain country of Western Virginia. His home was but a few miles from where he now lay. One morning he had risen from the breakfast table and said, quietly and gravely: "Father, a Union regiment has arrived at Grafton. I am going to join it."

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be
"Phantas," by Oliver Onions.

The father lifted his leonine head, looked at the son a moment in silence, and replied: "Go Carter, and, whatever may occur, do what you conceive to be your duty. Virginia, to which you are a traitor, must get on without you. Should we both live to the end of the war, we will speak further of the matter. Your mother, as the physician has informed you, is in a most critical condition; at the best she cannot be with us longer than a few weeks, but that time is precious. It would be better not to disturb her."

So Carter Druse, bowing reverently to his father, who returned the salute with a stately courtesy which masked a breaking heart, left the home of his childhood to go soldiering. By conscience and courage, by deeds of devotion and daring, he soon commended himself to his fellows and his officers; and it was to these qualities and to some knowledge of the country that he owed his selection for his present perilous duty at the extreme outpost. Nevertheless, fatigue had been stronger than resolution and he had fallen asleep. What good or bad angel came in a dream to rouse him from his state of crime who shall say? Without a movement, without a sound, in the profound silence and the languor of the late afternoon, some invisible messenger of the fate touched with unsealing finger the eyes of his consciousness—whispered into the ear of his spirit the mysterious awakening word which no human lips have ever spoken, no human memory ever has recalled. He quietly raised his forehead from his arm and looked between the masking stems of the laurel, instinctively closing his right hand about the stock of his rifle.

His first feeling was a keen artistic delight. On a colossal pedestal, the cliff, motionless at the extreme edge of the capping rock and sharply outlined against the sky, was an equestrian statue of impressive dignity. The figure of the man sat the figure of the horse, straight and soldierly, but with the repose of a Greek god carved in the marble which limits the suggestion of activity. The gray costume harmonized with the aerial background; the metal of accoutrement and harness was softened and subdued by the shadow; the animal's side had no points of high light. A carbine, strikingly ornamented, lay across the summit of the saddle, just behind the pommel, and the feet of the horse were not visible.

A Chinese youth, Fu Fun, aged 16, found in possession of $6,000 heroin pills, was bound over in a sum of $50 for a period of two years, by Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning.

A claim against Messrs. Harry Wicking and Co. of Fraser's Building for $40,000 for work done on the Cheong Koon-tong Building at 10, Peel Street, was taken to the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon by Mr. J. H. Tait, solicitor for the claimant.

BECTIVE

Established 1866.

WITH all the present day enthusiasm for the modern, there are still certain crafts which claim prestige by their very antiquity, and shoemaking is one of them.

The result is that BECTIVE SHOES are personal shoes, shoes for all occasions and thoroughly reliable, never varying in quality, yet changing daily with the trend of fashionable footwear designs. BECTIVE SHOES have craftsmanship "built in".

THE CHOICE OF SHOES.

It is not necessary to wear a size larger for comfort, or a too short shoe which crumples your foot, for smartness. Your foot can be fitted to both comfort and smartness, as there is a BECTIVE SHOE in your exact fitting.

You are invited to inspect this season's "BECTIVE" styles at the

BORDERERS CHALLENGE FOR SOCCER TITLE

First Eleven Ready For Duty.

JUNIOR TEAMS MAY BE WEAKENED

Practice Game On Monday
(By OUTSIDE LEFT)

Runners-up in the Senior Division of the Hong Kong Football Association's League last season, the South Wales Borderers are extremely fortunate this season to be in the position to field their first eleven of last year.

It is unfortunate, however, that the "trooping season" has robbed them of many good men for the Second and Third Division teams, and many more are expected to leave before the 1933-34 season is very old.

The Borderers have also been unfortunate in not being able to obtain a ground to practice on. The Army ground at Sookunpoo does not officially open until September 30, and, although the Military ground at Happy Valley opens to-day, they are not able to use it until the middle of next week.

With well over fifty men clamouring for a tryout, the Borderers Selection Committee are having some difficulty in selecting their second and third elevens.

Smith Again Available

In the first eleven Pte. Smith, who gave a first-class display between the sticks last season, will again be seen in action, while A. Morrison will partner L/Cpl. Mul-lane, the Interport full-back.

The Borderers will again have the services of their splendid half-back trio with Pte. Podmore as right-wing half, Sergt. Underwood as the pivot and Pte. Wallace in support on the left flank.

Pte. Harris, who sent across many magnificent centres last season in the final game against South China, and Sergt. Harris, his inside, will form the attack from the right, and Pte. Forley, the Second Division leader, has been promoted to the first team.

Dmr. (61) Jones who would have secured his Interport cap last year had it not been for his selfishness, will be in support of Forley at inside left, while Cpl. Duncan, who played for the Combined Services in the Lai Wah Cup on the left wing last season, will again fill that position this season.

May Win The Title

The Borderers caused several surprises last season, the biggest being the sensational defeat of South China towards the close of the soccer season, followed by triumphs over the Artillery and the Lincolns, both of whom were in the running for championship honours.

With the experience they secured last season the Borderers should go far this season, and I would not be at all surprised if they carried off championship honours.

The Borderers' first practice game will take place on Monday afternoon at Happy Valley, commencing at 5.30 p.m.

With the exception of Cpl. Addison, L/Cpl. Purcell, Pte. (59) Thomas and Pte. Nelson, the complement of both the trial teams are entirely composed of newcomers, none of whom have yet been seen in local League football.

The teams will be:—
Greens—Pte. (48) Norris; L/Cpl. (82) Hughes and Pte. Dowling; Pte. Laker; L/Cpl. Felix and Pte. (87) Morgan; Cpl. Addison, Pte. (7255) John; L/Cpl. Purcell, Pte. (92) Ford and L/Cpl. Mayrick.
Whites—Pte. (67) Williams; Pte. (82) Jones and Pte. Knight; Pte. Cole; Pte. Burns and L/Cpl. (21) Williams; Pte. Sellar, Pte. (89) Thomas, Pte. Nelson, L/Cpl. Whelan, and Pte. Sol-lis.

CLUB PRACTICE TO-MORROW

Senior XI Unchanged Against Lincolns.

MCKELLAR AND GAMBELL NEW JUNIOR HALVES

(By OUTSIDE LEFT).

The Hong Kong Football Club have started serious training and are selecting their First and Second Division elevens as the result of a series of friendlies, the first of which were played against the Royal Artillery last week on the Club ground, and the second of which will take place to-morrow against the first and second elevens of the Lincolshire Regiment on the Club ground.

The Club are fielding the identical first eleven team which played the Royal Artillery last week, but have made several changes in their second eleven, which will include several newcomers.

Binnle, who gave a very mediocre display last week at left back, is being given another trial in the same position in partnership with Manning Ralston, the skipper, while McKellar and Gambell, two new wing halves, will be seen in support of Boyd.

Fisher, who was seen to advantage last week on the right wing, will again be in action, while R. B. Wood, a newcomer with a reputation, will lead the forwards.

Williams, who is reputed to be an excellent inside forward, will be seen in support of Wood on the right, and Sloan will fill the left wing position.

The junior match will commence at 4 p.m., and will be followed by the senior game at 5.15 p.m.

The following are the teams:—
Senior:—S. Fowler; Hynes and S. Strange (captain); Skinner, Wright and A. Duncan; F. Fowler, Dominie, Howe, E. Strange and Bickford.
Junior:—Slummonds; M. Ralston (captain) and Binnle; McKellar, Boyd and Gambell; Fisher, Bell, R. B. Wood, Williams and Sloan.
Reserves: Lowe, Farrow and Krilovsky.

DONALD LEACH 5 FOR 30.

Stokes And Divecha Score Runs.

SHANGHAI INTERPORTERS' FEATS OVER WEEK-END.

Donald Leach, the Shanghai Interport cricket captain, took 5 for 30 against the Reds last Saturday, and was largely responsible for the dismissal of a strong batting side for 113 runs. He, however, scored only 4 runs towards the Club's total of 131 for 8.

W. Mansel-Smith took 3 for 19 and L. F. Stokes scored 45 not out for the Club. Torry Wilson took 2 for 36, Sam Isaacs 0 for 21, and Pat Madar 2 for 48 against the Club. M. J. Divecha scored 28 for the Reds.

HONG KONG BEAT KOWLOON

Garrison Schools' Aquatic Meet.

Hong Kong easily defeated Kowloon 14 to win the championship flag presented by H. E. Major-General J. W. Sandilands C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. in the Garrison Schools' Aquatic Sports at the V.R.C. swimming pool yesterday afternoon.

Hong Kong secured 116 points to Kowloon's 44. They won the team race by a comfortable margin.

There was a very large gathering present to watch the race, including H. E. Major-General O. C. Barrett C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., and Mrs. Barrett, Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. T. Ralston D.S.O., O.C. the South Wales Borderers; Lt. Col. J. H. Thom, and Mrs. E. D. C. Wolfe, wife of the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Inspector General of Police.

At the conclusion of the sports the prizes were presented to the successful competitors by Mr. Barrett.

FIELD REQUIRES WIN FOR TITLE

DRAKE BEATEN ONCE IN 16 MATCHES

THOUGH sustaining two defeats to W. S. Drake's one, W. V. Field still leads the junior skips' records for the 1933 season with 13 wins in 15 matches. He requires only to win against the Civil Service rink to-morrow to secure a clean-cut triumph.

The following are the junior skips records to date:

CRAIGENGOWER SHOULD WIN

Ground Advantage In Vital Game.

CIVIL SERVANTS MAKE ONE CHANGE

(By SHORT HEAD.)

CRAIGENGOWER should beat the Civil Service to-morrow in the last remaining junior Lawn Bowls League fixture of the season, and thus retain the title they won last year for the first time since the inception of the competition in 1924.

On May 6 the champions beat the Civil Servants by 25 shots on the latter's green in their first match of the season. To-morrow they will have ground advantage and the knowledge that if they lose they will be forced to meet the Bowling Green once again in the play-off for the title. And I do not think that they have yet forgotten the 38 shots defeat they suffered at the hands of the K.B.G.C. last Saturday.

Craigengower have made no changes in the team which failed so ignominiously before the Bowling Green. The Civil Service, however, have brought in J. Foster for J. Fitzgerald.

BRITISH PASTOR PERSECUTED

Determined To Fight Temperance Fanatics.

NONCONFORMISTS RESENT VIEWS.

The Rev. Raymond E. Young, minister of Sandwich Congregational Church, near Deal, began his sermon recently by stating that he was voluntarily resigning his pastorate, "because my occupancy of this pulpit is an embarrassment to the Church." He recalled that in a civic sermon last year he protested against total abstinence being exalted into the cardinal Christian virtue, and affirmed his belief that it was not an un-Christian thing to drink a glass of beer. From the uproar that ensued, he said, one would have thought that he had denied the very existence of God.

"Letters poured in on me," he said. "One sweet Christian correspondent wrote that I ought to have my eyes gouged out. Mark you, they have nothing against my character, but a man's character is of no account apparently in comparison with his attitude to alcohol. "The freedom of speech has become a myth. There is freedom of speech only for teetotalers. These fanatics are allowed to say all that they desire from pulpits. Those of us who hold that alcohol is not only normally harmless, but often physically beneficial, are never allowed to say so publicly. "What the average church seems to want to-day in the pulpit is a sort of tame parrot who will twitter forth pretty platitudes Sunday by Sunday, and sit from house to house, making itself pleasant for the rest of the week. "The quarrelsomeness, the petty mindedness, the vindictiveness, and downright dishonesty of many church members nowadays is almost incredible.

Petulant Churchgoer.
"I am a young man of 32, and if events take their normal course I have at least another 30 years of active life before me. Would you choose to spend those years trotting around trying to please and pacify disgruntled and petulant church-goers? I don't think you would, and I for one am not going to try. I would rather earn my bread with pick and shovel. I mean that. The position of a minister is no longer consistent with the dignity of man.

"A man to-day wants a man's religion in a man's church, but religion has become effeminate, emasculated and insipid. This alcoholophobia, this excessive fear of strong drink, is a symptom of the effeminate refinement which pervades church life to-day.

"I sometimes think that a clanking hen would now be a more appropriate symbol of the British spirit than a lion or a bull-dog. The soul of England is becoming suffocated with undue carefulness, with a synthetic gentility and a spurious refinement. Modern church life needs to be impregnated with something of the bracing salt of Calvinism."

The civic service to which Mr. Young referred took place on Sunday, October 30 last.

Determined to Fight.
The Rev. Raymond Young, it is understood, intends to hold services in a cinema at Deal during the autumn and to continue his campaign against "temperance fanatics."

"Since my farewell service on July 30, I have become practically another unit in the ranks of the unemployed, yet I am determined not to remain idle," Mr. Young said in an interview. "Now that I am a free man, unfettered by religious shackles and creeds, I am coming out in the open and shall go for these temperance fanatics with the gloves off. In the early autumn I hope to preach in a cinema at Deal at services which will make irresistible appeal to the man in the street. There will be neither admission charges nor collections, as all such offerings are abominations. Already I have received letters welcoming my return, and they are only an echo of the large majority of the rising generation."

From the above it is clear that Mr. Young is the least bit of the body, and that he is not a temperance fanatic.

TWO KOWLOON FIRES LAST NIGHT

Brigade Not Called For An Hour.

VILLAGE FIRE PUMP IN ACTION AT UN LONG

Fire broke out at the Yim Sim dye shop at 217 Cheung Sha Wan Road, Shumshui, at 3.10 this morning.

The Fire Brigade were not summoned until nearly an hour later, but on arrival quickly extinguished the flame before they could spread to the adjacent buildings.

Severe damage, however, was caused to the shop, together with a quantity of cloth and dye material, valued at $2,700.

The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained.

New Territories Blaze.

A miscellaneous goods shop in Hop Yick Street, Un Long village, New Territories, caught fire at about 1.40 this morning.

The local Fire Brigade pump succeeded in keeping the blaze in check until the arrival of a fire engine, with Station Officer Moss, from Kowloon.

Two pumps were then brought into action and the fire quickly extinguished.

The building, a two-storey shop, was badly damaged and a quantity of goods destroyed.

MORE DISARMAMENT NEGOTIATION.

Capt. Eden Talks Again
With Mr. Davis.

London, To-day.

The Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Captain Anthony Eden, who is going to Paris at the weekend, to discuss various points regarding Disarmament with members of the French Government, yesterday had conversations at the Foreign Office, first with the President of the Disarmament Conference, Mr. Arthur Henderson and afterwards with the Chief American Delegate, Mr. Norman Davis.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, is at present in Scotland, but will lead the British Delegation at Geneva meetings later in the month.—British Wireless Service.

U. S. SEAMEN WHO MISSED SHIP

Refuse To Sail By Northern Route.

SENT TO HOUSE OF DETENTION

Three American seamen, Harold Pearson, Charles Allison Bauer and Alexis Bundhlem, were sent to the House of Detention by Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of vagrancy. Detective Sergeant Mottram said that they were members of the crew of "Golden Tide," which arrived here in August. For various reasons they missed their ship and it was decided to keep them at the Seamen's Home until the arrival of a vessel of the same company.

The Golden Dragon, a vessel of the same company, arrived yesterday, he said, but the defendants refused to join the ship saying that it was returning to America over the northern route and the climatic conditions were too severe for them.

The local agents had refused to have anything more to do with the defendants and handed them over to the police.
